Ethiopian Community Los Angeles is a non-profit, 503(c) (3) organization serving Ethiopians in the Greater Los Angeles area and beyond.

Mission

The Ethiopian Community Los Angeles is a non-political, non-religious, non-profit, and tax exempted civic organization aiming at serving all Ethiopians living in the greater Los Angeles area of Southern California. ECLA is an all-inclusive organization committed to address social, economic, and educational needs of the community; and promoting culture, history, and heritage of Ethiopia at large. It will also work towards strengthening unity among Ethiopians in this area and elsewhere to help and contribute to the process of building national unity. ECLA will collaboratively work with various similar organizations both locally and globally to address the needs of its community and beyond.

Vision

Our vision is to see Ethiopians in Los Angeles and its surroundings be fully integrated, united, equally addressed, and benefitted from the socio-economic and educational opportunities available in the country while advancing their culture, history, and heritage.

Our Values:

- We promote inclusiveness so members feel safe, respected, and comfortable in expressing all aspects of their identities.
- We celebrate the diversity and autonomy of individual members.
- We empower members to willingly give service with transparency and accountability.
- We practice responsible stewardship of resources, as well as expenditures in pursuance of our organization's mission.
- We intentionally encourage intergenerational social interactions to facilitate the acquisition of language, culture, and history.
- We respond to our communities responsively by meeting needs that the government and the market do not meet.
- We model servant leadership by inspiring others to share in our organization's vision and mission.
- We develop teamwork by embracing trust, conflict management, commitment, accountability and focusing on results.

Executive Director's Letter

Dear Friends:

We made it this far in 2021 and that is enough to take pause and celebrate. We wish you a Happy Ethiopian New Year!

I would like to begin by shining a spotlight on our volunteers. Nonprofits are messy. We work at a different pace, different energy, and with different management skills when compared to corporate organizations. Our volunteers are here because they have a passion for our mission work. They work tirelessly to implement their mission centric work because they understand the impact, they have in uplifting our communities. The internal rewards propel them forward. I have watched as they too experienced the full impact of the pandemic, and I have watched as they picked themselves up and reported back to work to continue volunteering. We see you.

We are in the process of transitioning to the new normal. We are still navigating post Covid expectations: remote work, contactless transactions, restrictions, and limitations on large gatherings, and travel. We understand how important it is to keep our technology upgraded. As a result of this we are now paying for website upgrades. We are planning on using a hybrid model for a few more months. We understand how important it is to continue meeting the needs of our communities. We are aware of the surge in mental health service needs and other community support services. Our communities are struggling with isolation, unemployment, depression, and pandemic induced anxiety. As volunteers we are all taking a risk as we toil to keep our operation productive. We are strategically adjusting our mindset to keep our focus in the aftermath of Covid as we continue to deal with Covid anomalies. We are adjusting our perspectives, expectations, and plans. Bear with us.

We value leadership. We are at an important crossroad with six of our founding Board members who will be ending their terms next September, and two that have resigned this year. We need to keep the succession pipeline rolling. These passionate individuals have brought us this far. As you begin entertaining the next group of leaders, please note that ECLA has grown as a nonprofit and the next group of leaders must present themselves with extraordinary leadership skills and talent to continue sustaining the organization. We need leaders who also have accounting, IT, grant writing, organizational, and people skills. As you begin recruiting for us keep in mind ECLA's growing needs.

With you, our supporters behind us in 2021-2022 ECLA will continue to thrive. Support us through contributions, sharing our work with others, telling others to join us, and this will make us even more powerful to continue expanding and delivering our services. With you by our side this coming year we will make great strides, we will endure.

With Gratitude,
Hirout Dagneu
ECLA Executive Director

History

The Ethiopian Community Los Angeles was established after a year of meetings and conversations between like-minded individuals on how to tackle the social problems arising in the Ethiopian immigrant community. A town hall community meeting was convened on September 28th, 2019 to call for Board recruitment and a month later the organization elected an eleven-member board. Amid the Covid-19 pandemic ECLA converted to a virtual nonprofit.

Over the next few months medical teams were assembled to deliver bilingual public panels to educate the community about the new pandemic. In late July ten more subcommittees were created and ECLA began delivering services based on its mission of educational, economic, and social needs. We are very humbled by what our team of outstanding volunteers have built over the past two years, and even more excited about where ECLA can go next. The organization is building a reputation in Los Angeles and beyond with its mission centric services to the Ethiopian community. And we are just getting started.

Our future is full of hope as we see an increase in supporters partaking in our programs and services. Our supporters are beginning to understand and embrace the value of our mission and vision. We are using our team of excellent talent, and best practices to expand reach and practice high impact services across Los Angeles. ECLA is leading the way as more and more similarly situated organizations are approaching us for collaborative projects. We are developing a strong reputation in our communities.

Our volunteers are our assets that have set us up to lead, expand, and sustain this community organization. Over the next few years, we will reach more clients in the Greater Los Angeles region and beyond. We are anxious to expand our programs to continue meeting the growing needs of our primary beneficiaries. Our existing programs and services are important building blocks to continue to have maximum impact on our communities, and beyond.

All our volunteers and Board members were involved in strategically assessing the organization through SWOT analysis and risk mitigation activities before collaboratively developing goals and objectives for the two-year strategic plan. Our public relations team wrote the marketing plan so we would be able to raise even more funds to serve more beneficiaries. ECLA is run by nine subcommittees, each addressing a different need. Our long-term goals include a health fair, creating a Padlet on our website, weekly Amharic lessons, a STEM lab, mentoring youth, holding job fairs, college counseling, mental health counseling, elderly engagement, and pro bono services through our legal team.

A key part of our strategy is to continue to look ahead toward a healthy and strategic growth. As you read about our activities, we hope you will imagine yourself as a future ECLA partner and be part of our theory of change.

“Ethiopian Community Los Angeles is investing in our people and strengthening our community. ECLA is living through unprecedented times; but what gives us hope is our equally unprecedented commitment to responding to the needs of our community. We are bringing people together and enticing companies and individuals to reach their potential. We hope to be a source of strength during these challenging times. I am so proud of how we stepped up.”

Martha Tadesse/ ECLA Board Chair

Organizational Structure

The organization is run by an eleven-member board who are responsible for sound, ethical, and legal governance, and financial management policies. The board determines the mission, vision, and assists in the implementation, monitoring, and evaluation of the organization’s strategic direction. The board is responsible for securing adequate resources for the organization to fulfill its mission. The board assists in developing the annual budget and ensures that proper financial controls are in place. Through advocacy, the board articulates the organization’s mission, accomplishments, and goals to the public and garners support from the community. The organization has a five-member advisory board who consult with the board as needed and help with fundraising campaigns.

The board appointed executive director is responsible for running all the operational aspects of the organization and is responsible for all the fundraising activities. The subcommittees report to the director and the director reports to the board. The director is accountable to the stakeholders and ensures the quality and effectiveness of programs. The director makes sure financial documents are up to date and creates and adheres to financial controls. The executive director ensures that staff onboarding, recruitment, retention, management, and compliance are carried out with integrity. The director also makes sure the proper hardware, software is in place for donors, document creation, and communication. The director maintains strong relationships with all the stakeholders and communicates regularly with the public. The director also monitors compliance with all laws and regulations.

ECLA is endowed with fifty plus regular volunteer professionals who are currently organized into nine subcommittees, and each subcommittee has a team lead. The subcommittees include medical, mental health, education, child development, social/cultural, youth, senior citizens, media/technology, and public relations. Each subcommittee is tasked with offering a specialized service to the Ethiopians living in the Greater Los Angeles area. The subcommittees recruit experts and guest speakers in their service area to augment the services they provide. Everyone at ECLA is a volunteer.

ECLA Board Governance Committee

This year not only did we successfully transition to virtual work, but we also became adept at virtual governance work. We hold quarterly board meetings and work in board committees in between these meetings. We worked hard to meet internal and external compliance obligations. Our legal documents are in order, and we are now ready to begin writing grants.

Our board of directors are insured, and our nonprofit enjoys liability coverage. Next for our team is to develop a policies and procedures handbook, which we hope to complete by next year this time.

We are currently building our infrastructure through our website development. We plan to make membership renewal a self-service digital process. We have hired a virtual human resource service and currently our employee handbook is being developed. We look forward to hiring two employees to meet our growing needs soon. We added three new board members in March, and they have already jumped in to join us with impressive leadership work.

The year ahead is an important one as we begin planning for board succession. You are part of our community: the community of people who work, volunteer, donate, and sit on boards. We hope you will consider joining us this year in any capacity.

ECLA Board Development Committee

Current short-term goals achieved includes seventy percent (70 %) success in board pledge drive and creating a donor business directory that is continuously enhanced real-time. As ECLA ambassadors, board members used the directory to actively outreach and introduce ECLA and the programs there in, as well as invite businesses to the General Assembly and solicit donations.

Strategies for 2021/2022 are multi-pronged: donor business list expansion, increasing ECLA visibility, expanding board level fundraising, learning best practice from 'look-alike' nonprofits, and pursuing ECLA office space. Through continued communication with other members of the board and the greater community at large, identify additional business and private foundations. Network with the larger community to increase ECLA's visibility and presence to foster a positive image in the community. The Development committee also plans to define and refine, achievable board-level fundraising goals beyond the individual board pledge. Lastly, work closely and in unison with Executive Director to engage city officials to explore next steps to obtain 'brick and mortar' ECLA office space.

Teen & Youth Subcommittee

The Teen and Youth Team is currently comprised of three to four volunteers. Our goals are to create a safe, open, and supportive space for our community's youth; foster cultural awareness, as well as pride in self, community, and heritage; create opportunities for mentorship, networking, and guidance. Last year, we set out to provide a platform for the youth to come together and discuss issues relevant to them in a fun and judgment-free environment via zoom. We also intended to present panel discussions and interviews on topics such as, career paths, history, art, and culture, as well as provide access to Amharic lessons. Finally, if situations were to allow, we intended to host youth centric events and organize field trips. This past year has been quite fruitful and educational.

On May 22, we presented an engaging and well-attended panel discussion entitled "Exploring Architectural Career Paths", during which three young professionals shared their educational and career paths and addressed various questions from the audience. Our partners in the Education Team have made weekly Amharic lessons available, which is currently on going. In the following year, we hope to increase our reach amongst our target group, the youth in our community, and get their input and participation. We also plan to provide similar programs and collaborate with other teams, to reach our goals even more.

By August 2022, we intend to increase youth membership by 50% from baseline.

Child Development & Parenting Subcommittee

The Child Development and Parenting subcommittee is dedicated to ensuring that our community has increased awareness of developmental milestones of our children at every level. This subcommittee will partner with other subcommittees as well as other community partners to bring evidence-based information through a variety of activities such as virtual training, seminars, and presentations as well as make important printed information accessible by translating documents into Amharic.

By August 2022, The Child Development and Parenting subcommittees will provide valuable programming regarding Child Development and best practice parenting tools to 20,000 community members as measured by the amount of views/attendance of planned activities and distribution of printed material.

“It is a privilege to be part of building a strong community and that is why I volunteer at ECLA.

Volunteering gives me an opportunity to better understand the needs and strengths of my own community and allows me to contribute what I can to make it better. A strong Ethiopian community is a legacy that I want to leave for the next generation.”
Feben Fantu/Child&Parenting Team Lead

Educational/Training Subcommittee

The Education subcommittee helps the Ethiopian community in the Greater Los Angeles area in equipping families and students with the necessary tools and information to make the right decision in matters related to education. The committee works in close partnership with other similar committees to address matters that cross boundaries.

The subcommittee has been able to present many presentations in collaboration with the Child/Parenting subcommittee which is in line with our proposed goals. During this past year, we have been able to reach a total of 10,300 community members with this important program offerings.

By August 2022, we hope to create a virtual website Padlet, build a STEM center, provide tutoring and translation services, teach Amharic language lessons, create career development programs, offer various trainings, and annual job fairs. Some of these projects have already begun. We expect to engage 10,000 participants over the next year with virtual and live programming.

“I am passionate about education and want to serve my community.”
Abiy Tekola/ Education Team Lead

Social/Cultural Subcommittee

Our program involves identifying and providing services to underprivileged families, people living alone and experiencing illness, people suffering from Covid-19, and elderly groups needing assistance to navigate the various social systems. We also create culturally appropriate virtual programming to celebrate major Ethiopian holidays.

This past year we have taken advantage of the 2021 Olympics and brought in experts to teach the history of our Ethiopian marathon runners and highlight our two- time Olympic boxer Tibo to honor his legacy and inspire our youth. We held a virtual Art Festival to celebrate the opening of our city and followed up a month later with our first in-person event, a book signing gathering, to highlight a member of our community.

By August 2022, we hope to increase our membership by 200% from last year's number.

"I volunteer because it gives me an opportunity to help and get to know the community. It helps me to know that the community has a lot of human resources which we did not tap into.

Worku Shibeshi/ Social & Cultural Team Co-Lead

"It is always my deep pleasure to give back to my community. I never forget that the community raised us in Ethiopia. I always wondered why we could not establish a community in Los Angeles. Seeing other communities blossoming gave me spiritual jealousy. I want everyone to take ownership and be involved in this humble journey."

Shiferaw Deneke/ Social& Cultural Team Co-Lead

Medical Subcommittee

This past year our foremost responsibility has been to provide timely Covid-19 bilingual public health reports. Our aim is to celebrate health awareness, recruit and invite guest speakers to promote healthy habits, increase community knowledge of different diseases, symptoms, and prevention. Post pandemic we plan to recruit health care personnel and conduct annual health fairs and pop- up screening sites for our community.

Our biggest success this past year has been our March and April Vaccination Campaign. We collaborated with multiple community organizers, Black Vax, Kedren Clinic health group, city officials, and our own Ethiopian health care workers to make it possible for thousands of people to get vaccinated over just a few weeks. We saw our community members rise to the occasion and volunteer for long hours on their days off to make this happen. We were impressed by the number of volunteers who stepped up both from the medical and nonmedical fields. It was a feat to behold.

By August 2022, we hope to attract 1500 people to our health fairs and purchase a mobile medical van to visit neighborhoods and benefit 2,000 people annually.

"I volunteer because it provides me with the opportunity to connect with my community." Eskedar Gizaw/ Medical Team Co-Lead

"I volunteer for different communities when opportunity opens. I volunteer for ECLA because it provides me an opportunity to build a community I always wanted to have in LA." Yekuno Woldeyesus/ Medical Team Co-Lead

Mental Health Team

Our team strives to promote positive community mental health through virtual psychoeducation. This past year we have worked hard to alleviate symptoms of distress in our community and promote healthy active living. We offered a series of violence and bullying prevention programs, as well as substance abuse prevention programs in collaboration with our nonprofit partner, African Coalition. Our team partners with instate and out of state counselors to put out bilingual mission centric virtual programming for our community.

We do a good job of collaborating with county officials and other nonprofits to make sure our community gets housing, immigration, mental health, and other resources in a timely manner. We post bilingual announcements on our social media too. We help community members in crisis by referring them to the right resources in a timely manner.

By August 2022, we plan to increase community outreach by 50% in year two, and plan to increase community engagement by reaching 1,000 views on our virtual programming.

“I volunteer to promote mental health in my community.”
Selam Yehdego/ Mental Health Team Lead

Senior Citizen Subcommittee

Our team is responsible for the mental and physical health of our elderly. We provide care and outreach, promote social activities, and offer educational speaker series and discussion forums for our youth and elders. We plan to invite geriatrics specialists and psychologists to speak on timely issues. We currently plan with other nonprofits and county officials to make sure government care options are made available to our group.

Post pandemic we plan to schedule walks, provide links to medical care resources, collect, and distribute food bank items, deliver fresh produce, and help with grocery runs for the homebound.

By the end of August 2022, we plan to double our program participants, again barring any pandemic barriers.

Public Relations Subcommittee

We aim to support our subcommittee programming. We work hard to increase membership, donor retention, and social media visibility to provide our communities residing in the Greater Los Angeles area access to ECLA’s social, economic, and educational services.

Once our website is completed, we plan to market our services so our clients can engage with blogs, video clips, and other messages. We are currently marketing our services on social media platforms to increase our visibility. We plan to continue to increase our aggressive marketing campaigns. Once our website is set up, we plan to boost website traffic to increase donor retention.

By the end of August 2022, we will increase our paid membership accounts by 400%, track donations to raise $100,000, aim for our digital presentations to have 5,000 Facebook/ Instagram livestream views, and a 20% increase in social media shares. We are currently accomplishing some of these goals.

“Volunteering allows me to connect to my community and strive to make it a better place.”
Yonas Assefa/ECLA Public Relations Team Lead

Media/IT Subcommittee

We aim to develop leadership abilities and potential of the teams to efficiently run a virtual nonprofit. Once the website is completed, we will develop and use a membership database, invest in tools to make staff more productive, and invest in reliable products and services.

We currently have a volunteer team working on our website development, and a volunteer consultant for our software needs. We have hired an outside team to help with certain short-term projects also.

By the end of August 2022, we plan to have 200 monthly views, and we plan to increase our membership from baseline to 800 paid members. Currently the website is under construction.

Current Project in Progress

We have a runner representing ECLA at the Los Angeles Marathon on November 7th, 2021.

Iyob Tessema will be running to raise funds for ECLA. He has already raised $1,000 by himself for ECLA. Anyone interested in supporting his effort can email their pledges at ecla.ed@eclosangeles.org. Please include your name, phone number, email, and amount of pledge. If our website is completed by then, we will direct you to our donation page.

We have a panel scheduled for October 28th, 2021, from 6pm-8pm, where he will go over what the marathon entails and how the community can support him. Everyone is invited to come and cheer him on that day.

“I support ECLA because I believe that in doing so, I am supporting my community. One is rootless without community, especially those of us far, far away from our homes. In supporting my community, I am supporting myself.”

Fassil Abebe/ ECLA Member/Donor

Thank You Kedren Clinic!

We would like to recognize the medical staff at Kedren Clinic for making it possible for thousands in our community to get vaccinated. Dr. Jerry P. Abraham, the head of the clinic, passionately advocates to get underrepresented communities vaccinated and has gone beyond the call of duty to organize multiple events to facilitate the vaccination of our communities. He did his part to address the unequal roll out of the vaccination program. Another person that was responsible for the successful implementation of this campaign was Collin Hinds. With one phone call he got us all to organize with other community organizations to make this happen.

Dr. Nonye Okonkwo for cheering us on and Sonny Tran for all your logistical help,
Dr. Kelly Jones for your cheerfulness during all of this, the Ethiopian Community thanks you.

Thank You to the 19 Ethiopian doctors and nurses and the 39 Ethiopian nonmedical volunteers, who made our Vaccination Campaign possible. We could not have done this without you.

Thank You County Supervisor Holly Mitchell! We appreciated the way your office responded to our initial phone calls and emails, and the swift way you blocked time for us at the Forum for our underrepresented zip codes to get their people vaccinated with such ease.

Thank You Ambassador Mulugeta Kelil from the Los Angeles Ethiopian Consulate for donating all the office furniture to ECLA, and for helping to facilitate the move. The Consulate is now officially closed, and we have all their furniture in public storage.
